Introduction

This book is dedicated to all the editors of the papers listed. I take no credit for any information in these pages. Editors often times go through life with little or no recognition. I hope this book will make up for some of what has been lost. I also wish to thank my mother, Mary Mayfield Garver Shaeffer who saved quite a few of those papers and small pieces of news clippings, though many were put in but no dates were on them. Many times we fail to realize how important those dates are. Please excuse these articles, but I did not wish them also to be lost in history.

To Mrs. Pauline Long of Denver, Colorado, I also dedicate this book and give my sincere thanks to for pushing me on and encouraging me at each turn to finish a history that should have been told many years ago. Through this book we discovered we were distant cousins and now I have found a life long friend and relative. I hope this will do the same for you.

On how to use this book. The first 40 pages deal with the older papers. When using the index, use the entry number, not the pages number. The second section was actually the first attempt at the writing of Ava Lives and Ava Passings. You will go by the entry numbers also which will have the original page number next to the original entry number. In this way I am able to cut the cost by ten dollars to the individual who wishes to purchase a copy.

Many times the papers were unclear as to who was kin to whom so should you find a wrong entry, please write me at 103 Apt. D. East Lincoln; Normal, Ill. 61761. Information which is correct is hard to get so I will not be offended.

I am recommending that for further research check my next volume Fireside Tales which are stories of the 1890's through the 1933 of Ava. Volume III will be finished sometime this winter. Also, I recommend Genevieve Reubke's book entitled Do you Remember Campbell Hill. Since the families are so intertwined in Jackson Co., with both sets of books you can trace your family almost 100 years back and get a good idea of the type of life at that time. It also provides quite an accurate description of the history of the area.

It is my sincere hope that this book will be an enjoyment and friends and relatives will be found that were otherwise lost through the years. If I have offended anyone by these articles, just remember it is all history and it was just what was written in the papers at that time.

With the forethought of Brenda's mother, and the many hours of research by Brenda Garver Lee, this volume has been published from clippings of a newspaper and papers of Ava and 5 surrounding counties of early papers from Ava Citizen, DuQuoin Herald, Carbondale papers, Early Murphysboro.

Brenda has much praise due her for putting this all down on paper. This work covers a period of time between 1899 to 1973 and her index are in pages 59 to 103 following. Then it follows individual entry numbering. RCGS index follows and is by page numbering by "Back of the Book" Index. Brenda placed #'s on the first 49 pages and RCGS placed #'s on the rest.

MALINDA GARVER PASSES AWAY

On this Easter Sunday morning there passed from this life one of the fine old mothers, who was born, grew up and spent eighty years of service in bearing and rearing one of the large and well known families of this section of Illinois.

On the thirtieth day of January 1869, Malinda Castilla was born to Isaac and Elmira Modghin, living in Ora Township. She attended the Oak Hill Country School, growing to young womanhood on her father's farm learning and doing those fine things which characterized her entire after life of willing sacrifice and service.

On December 26, 1888 she was married to James Hansford Garver, son of Jacob and Nancy Cheatham Garver. The wedding ceremony was performed by Reverend Caleb Easterly at his residence near Sugar Hill. Reverend Caleb Easterly was the head of the well known pioneer Easterly family, a widely known Baptist preacher of the early days.

The young couple at once made a farm and continued forty seven years on the farm. Eight children were born to them of whom six boys and one girl grew to manhood and womanhood, one little daughter, Gladys, passed away in infancy.

This farm life was a life of labor in which Malinda and Hansford found happiness in making success. There was a home of service and cooperation, helping one another. They participated in the social life of their community; they were good neighbors in personal helpfulness and friendly spirit that made all this region a country never to be forgotten the families who were born there, and participated in making it a good community to live in.

It was a life of hardship, true enough but had its rewards too, rewards that have too often passed with the coming of the easier way of life. There was neighborly association; There was visiting, much visiting back and forth among friends; There was the intimacies that made for strong friendships; There were interests that made for loyalty; There was the understanding that association long continued only brings about fellow feeling, sympathy and helpfulness. There were many occasions for eating together; invitation to strangers to "light and look at your saddle have a bite with us," was the ordinary thing and if a neighbor happened by anyway's near a meal time he was not formally invited but honestly insisted urged to "come in and eat with us." It was a wholesome camaraderie that made character, stimulated thought, developed personality.

There was singing, joking and laughing, and growing in good fellowship. This spirit of happiness was the spirit of pioneer day that made everyone who was born grew up and participated in it here in Egypt, long to come back home again, back to God's Country. This desire never dies no matter where they go nor how long they stay.

In that fine old way of life, Mrs. Garver's family grew up this marvelously insistent mother leading the way to the full life with all the rewards and obligations which that implies.

At the end of forty seven years of farm life mother and Hansford bought the present home in Ava, and on April 22, 1935 moved into the home, and until Easter morning 1949 she lived beloved of her new neighbors in Ava just as she by her neighbors back on the farm.

Mother Garver joined the Missionary Baptist Church at Sugar Hill many years ago in fulfillment of the good life she had always lived.

She was for a number of years an active member of the Rebecca Lodge No. 258 here in Ava, where her neighborly disposition made many friends. In that as in every other position in life she was helpful, friendly, and useful to her many associate members of this fine organization.

To her work was not a burden but a welcome opportunity to be enjoyed and shared.

The names of her children with their grandchildren are here given in their order: The second daughter, Elsie Earline grew to womanhood married Joseph Bryant to whom she bore two boys, Eldon and Earl. She passed on at thirty one years.

The six sons are all living, born in the following order: Walter Henry, age sixty next June, married Grace Casteel to whom five children were born, four girls, Gladys, Beulah, Helen and Louise and one son, Grover. Gladys married Harold Bradley, Beulah married Harold Roberts and bore Wayne, John and Marlon. Helen married George Anghaus, Louise married George Speith, Grover married Cecilia Korando, she bore two children, Walter and Dolores Anne. Warren Otto married Grace Whisler, there were three girls, Geraldine, Blanch and Aleta. Geraldine married Frank Reiman, one daughter. Aleta married Gerald Meyers Joyce. One daughter born Dale Yvonn. Harmon Ross married Mary Reiman, three children born, Raymond Hansford, Dorothy and Ruth, Raymond married Irene Reiman, one daughter born Donna Sue, Dorothy married Reuben Strothman, one son born Russell Louis. Harmon Ross married a second time, Mrs. Vida Casteel Kane. Ralph James married Helen Ditzler; there were seven children, three girls, Marie, Mildred, and Marilene, four boys, Harmon Homer, Delbert, Glenn and Gale. Marie married Ray Williamson. Harmon Homer was killed in action on the island of Luzon, March 2, 1945. Raymond Hansford was wounded in the same action on March 8. Van William - not married. Verne Edward married Bertha Bryant.

Notable as this Ozark uplift across Southern Illinois is for the unusual long life of the people who live upon it. This more than sixty years of married life and the rearing of a family which resulted in 35 living descendants is seldom met with even in these life giving Egyptian Highlands.

She was found in a skeleton state just a few hours after she left by her brothers and friends in a little hill near the edge of a swamp. She had been eaten by a number of three to four foot long black snakes. When the father and family destroyed the cave, they uncovered 82 snakes. 4/4/1867 Du Quoin Tribune
- (467) Thursday afternoon, Frank Bowlby, son of Peter Bowlby Esq. of Murphysboro went to shoot squirrels. The boy had a friend with him at the time. The squirrel was shot not far from the home. Instead of falling to the ground, he became lodged in a tree. The friend proceeded to chop the tree down. Frank stood 10 feet from the tree. The gun was cocked, resting on the ground (butt on the ground). A chip from the tree weighing 1½ lbs. was thrown from the tree by the axe. Striking cock of gun, threw down the hammer exploding the charge (Frank was leaning on the gun) and entered Frank's head on the right side of his ear. Carrying away the right side of his head and face, he stood a moment or two then fell a corpse. He was a corpse. 4/18/1867 Carbondale New Era Paper.
